Instead of a

Conclusion

*****

We must give and beware sport a human dimension, by rediscovering the overall sense of man, concealed behind a sort of highly privileged activity, namely sport.

*****

A taste for life, for struggle, and for effort.
A sense for responsibility, to oneself and one's fellow-man.
A taste for taking risks and surpassing oneself.
A sense of community and solidarity.

*****