Also 2005 has been, for CISM, a year packed with activity and important initiatives. Once again, a great number of world championships and competitions at continental and regional level characterized our sports calendar. In full respect of its aims and strategic projects, CISM enabled many members of the Armed Forces to compete and test themselves on the sports field, in brotherhood and friendship. I want to thank all those who, without a lot of fanfare, made it possible for this “miracle” to take place, in spite of all the difficulties and obstacles. In this field, the start of the project for the reform of our sports activities, which could no longer be postponed, will produce benefits in the near future and enable us to undertake a new course, starting in 2006, characterized by a modern, rational organization that will surely be one of our greatest assets.

2005 was marked by the launch of the project promoted by us, called "Sport and Peace", that characterized many initiatives in which CISM held a prominent role.

2005 was marked by the launch of the project promoted by us, called "Sport and Peace", that characterized many initiatives in which CISM held a prominent role. The beneficial fallout in terms of image and international consideration will accompany CISM for a long time in its future projects. One of particularly important is also the signature of the final contract with India for the Military World Games in 2007, and just around the corner will be the candidacy for the 2011 edition. Last but not least, is the collaboration undertaken with the Union Deportiva Militar Sudamericana (UDMSA), which could open new scenarios and remove the obstacles for an active participation of our less fortunate South American Delegations.

We can say that, once again, 2005 was an important page in the great yearbook of CISM, giving a significant contribution to a new stage of our history, full of challenges. My final thanks go to all those who, during the year, left CISM, each of whom has given a generous contribution that will not be forgotten. And my welcome to the new members of our family, starting from the new Secretary General, thanking them for taking up our cause and deciding to work for international military sports.

We look forward to an exciting 2006 with you, starting with the Olympics in Turin, and I wish you all good luck!

Friendship through Sport
The Staff: The Heart of CISM

2005 will forever remain in my memory as the year of my election to the post of CISM Secretary General, with 97.5% of the votes, at the CISM General Assembly held on the magnificent island of Cyprus.

My first task upon taking office, consisted in strengthening the staff of the General Secretariat. Together with our President, we sent a letter to the Ministers of Defence of our 127 Member Nations, asking them what their country could do to support CISM. This letter was also opportunity not only to remind the numerous achievements of CISM to promote world Peace, but also to highlight our cooperation with the United Nations. We received many positive answers, often from the Ministers themselves. All recognized the important goals of our organization. Today, I am proud to tell all of you that our General Secretariat has been functioning at full pace since April 2006.

I am also deeply convinced that CISM does have the power to attract more sponsors and partners in 2006.

The Pilars of CISM

During my election campaign, I listed three objectives for CISM: ■ Solidarity ■ Globalisation ■ Communication

These are obviously not aims, but rather means toward achieving our aims. Thanks to these tools, we can increase our organization’s professionalism.

Over the past 58 years, CISM has substantially contributed to those noble objectives.

With more than 500 Military World Championships and over 1.000 continental and regional competitions, we have upheld our motto "Friendship through Sport".

2006 will set a Historical record with 25 World Military Championships.

Praise for this record goes to the national delegations, and not to the General Secretariat, through their huge efforts, and thanks to the perfect collaboration with the International Federations, CISM could reach that truly believable number.

Contribution to World Peace

Thanks to its steady growth—127 Member Nations as of the latest count, representing 19.3 million servicemen and women—CISM is increasingly in a position to play a prominent role on the international scene. Cooperation with the United Nations and the International Olympic Committee is making constant progress.

This solid basis enables CISM to actively pursue the above-mentioned aims (of supporting less-favoured Member Nations and contributing to world peace). During the "Sport and Peace" Conference organised by the United Nations in Magglingen, Switzerland, in December 2005, CISM’s achievements were summarised in the "Magglingen Call to Action 2005: Armed Forces: Use Sport in Promoting Friendship and Building Peace and Security!".

We all are aware of the tremendous impact the Armed Forces can have; but let us also be aware of the tremendous impact sports can have on people’s lives, especially children.

Michel van Meurs, Colonel, Royal Dutch Constabulary
The Turkish Delegation to CISM has demonstrated its capacity for organizing major CISM events in a highly professional manner, creating splendid working conditions for the spring session Board of Directors Meeting. Under the responsibility of Brigadier General Osman BAYKURT, President of the Organizing Committee, and with the more than active involvement of Colonel Erhan GUER, Colonel Nevzat VAROL and Colonel Avni CEPY, the Turkish hosts have offered the necessary technical and logistic assistance, contributing to the success of the event.

Thanks to the circumstances created, the Board was able to concentrate on its core business. Despite a tight timeframe, the agenda was completed, including the Record of Decisions which reflects the depth of the discussions. As the spring session traditionally focuses on the forthcoming General Assembly & Congress, the Board agreed on an agenda which, it hopes, will meet the Delegations’ expectations, desiring to have a more interactive structure of the Congress part. Amongst the other important issues that were discussed are the “2005 Year of Sport”, the Seminar on “Sport and Peace” in Mantova (ITA), the continuous development of the CISM Strategic Plan, the presentation of the 2006 Business Plan and the concrete achievements in the field of Anti-Doping.

On the occasion of both the Opening Ceremony and the Closing Ceremony, the organizers fully demonstrated their ability for achieving the so important visibility of the event. The presence of high ranking military authorities, such as Lieutenant-General Mehmet CAIO/DACOLOU, Deputy-Chief of the Turkish General Command of the Gendarmerie and Patron of the Organizing Committee for the BcD Meeting, who travelled all the way from Ankara was considered by all Board members to be a great honour. In return, several military dignitaries were awarded decorations of the CISM Meritorious Order of Merit. Also the formal office visit that the Acting Governor of the Antalya Province, Mr. Fazyl AKGIN granted to the Board members emphasized the importance the organizers placed on the event.

After completion of the Board working sessions, the organizers had the excellent idea of offering a cultural day which enabled the Board members to visit and enjoy the beauties of a region that is as superb as it is fascinating. Everyone will remember for years to come the magnificent archaeological sites of Aspendos and Perge.

The Board of Directors Meeting was a clear success, thanks to the efforts of the Turkish Delegation whose merits deserve our gratitude.

CISM is Proud of Its Past and Confident About Its Future

- Out of 127 Member Nations of the International Military Sports Council (CISM), 80 travelled to the charming and popular town of Ayia Napa-150 or so kilometres to the East of Nicosia, the capital of Cyprus-to take part in the 60th CISM General Assembly and Congress.

Before reporting in detail on this annual CISM forum, a word of praise is definitely in order for the Organising Committee, the Cypriot Delegation and the Cyprus National Guard for the outstanding working conditions they provided. It is true that ever since joining CISM in 1991, Cyprus has been most active, sending quality athletes to the different world championships and conquering quite a few medals in the process.

During its stay in Cyprus, CISM enjoyed ideal working conditions for all its statutory meetings: Board of Directors, Commissions, Technical Committees and Continental meetings were held in advance of the plenary sessions of the General Assembly and Congress.

The standing of the Opening Ceremony was enhanced by the presence of H.E. Mr Tassos Papadopoulos, President of Cyprus. In his address, he declared that ‘As President of Cyprus and a true sports fan, I can assure you that I am an active proponent and sponsor of your efforts to encourage the development and growth of sport in the Armed Forces’. To these key words, he added his best wishes for success in the sessions of the General Assembly and Congress. He was then awarded the Grand Cross of the Order of Merit of CISM, while the titles of Grand Officer, Officer and Knight were respectively bestowed to the Minister of Defence, the Chief of the General Staff of the National Guard and the President of the Organising Committee.

Many political, diplomatic, military and sporting authorities also attended the Opening Ceremony. A number of Italian, German and Cypriot athletes who won Olympic medals in Athens in 2004 were also invited. General Gianni Gola, President of CISM, presented them with token presents.

The participants were then treated to an artistic account of 10,000 years of history and civilisation on the island of Cyprus.

In addition to the presence of a European Head of State at a CISM event-a rare occurrence indeed,- the President of CISM, accompanied by three Continental Vice-Presidents (Africa, the Americas and Europe) and the Secretary General met with several high-ranking Cypriot personalities as part of official visits, including Mr Christophias Dimitris, President of the Parliament, Mr Kyriakos Mavronikolas, Minister of Defence and Lieutenant-General Athanasios Nikodimos, Chief of Staff of the National Guard.

It was an honour for the first session of the Congress to welcome Mr David Winger, Assistant to Mr Adolf Onggi, Special Adviser to the United Nations Secretary-General for the promotion of sport as an instrument of development and peace. In keynote address that was much appreciated, Mr Winger discussed the role of sport in promoting and maintaining peace.

Another landmark in this General Assembly was the appointment of Lieutenant-Colonel Michel Van Meurs (NED) to a four-year term as CISM Secretary General. He thus became our organisation’s seventh Secretary General since its creation in 1948. Other milestones included the acceptance of the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia as CISM’s 127th Member Nation; the election to the Board of Directors of Colonel Forquet (USA) and the appointment of Major-General Zhaoxian Chen (China) as Vice-President for Asia.

While not attending this General Assembly, the Indian Delegation did provide assurances in a message about progress in preparations for the 5th Military World Games scheduled to be held in 2007 in Hyderabad. As for the 5th Military World Games, the call for applications is still open but to date, the Turkish delegation alone has filed a preliminary application for the 2011 event.

Once again this year, the annual meeting provided President Gola with an opportunity to call upon his peers to play a prominent role on both the national and international scenes.

While asserting his optimism, he encouraged them to be more proactive and to launch initiatives in various sport-related fields, leveraging the opportunities that present themselves in everyone’s lives in the interest of military sports and athletes.

The discovery of the host country’s cultural treasures led the participants to a visit of the capital, Nicosia, and to the Monastery of Kykkos. Built nine centuries ago, the latter was erected in the Troodos mountain range at an altitude of 1,200 m. In addition to its religious function, it is also one of Cyprus’s most prominent intellectual centres.

A large island with a big heart, Cyprus accommodated the 60th CISM General Assembly and Congress in a great spirit of friendship.

In 2006, the 6th General Assembly and Congress will be held in the Italian capital and City of Sport, Rome.
Le CISM fier de son passé et confiant de son avenir

Quatre vingt pays du Conseil International du Sport Militaire (CISM), avaient fait le déplacement de la Charmante petite ville touristique d’Agia Napa à quelques 150 km Est de Nicosie, capitale de Chypre pour prendre part à sa 60e Assemblée Générale et Congrès.

Avant tout détail de ce forum annuel du CISM, il faulieu de tirer un grand coup de chapeau au Comité d’Organisation, à la Délégation et à la Garde Nationale de la République de Chypre pour l’excellente condition de travail. Il est vrai que depuis son adhésion au CISM en 1991, le Chypre s’est montré des plus actifs par une participation de qualité à différents championnats mondiaux et à la clôt des médailles.

Le séjour Chypriote a été l’occasion pour le CISM de tenir toutes ses réunions statutaires dans les conditions de travail idéales. Les sessions du Comité Directeur, des Commissions, des Comités Techniques et des Comités ont précédé les séances plénières du Congrès et de l’Assemblée.

L’ouverture officielle fut honorée de la présence du Président de Chypre son Excellence, Monsieur Tassos Papadopoulos, “en tant que Président de Chypre et fervent amateur du sport, je voudrais vous rassurer d’être un supporter actif et un patron de vos efforts pour encourager le développement et accroître le sport dans les rangs des Forces Armées” voici ses mots avant de souhaiter plein succès aux travaux de l’Assemblée et le Congrès.

De nombreuses autorités politiques, diplomatiques, militaires et sportifs ont aussi assisté à la cérémonie d’ouverture. Certains Athlètes militaires d’Allemagne et de Chypre, tous médaillés olympiques à Athènes 2004 ont été invités et se sont vu gratifiés des présents symboliques des mains du Général Gianni Golia, Président du CISM.

Une représentation artistique a permis aux participants d’apprécier 10 000 ans d’histoire et de civilisation de l’île.

Ce fut un plaisir pour le CISM lors de sa première session du Congrès d’accueillir en tant qu’orateur, Monsieur David Wingéer, Assistant de Mr Adolf Ogg, Conseiller Spécial en Sport du Secrétariat Général des Nations Unies Mr Kofi Annan. Son intervention qui porte sur le rôle du sport dans le développement et dans le maintien de la paix a été fort appréciée.
The CISM BoD laid down its luggage in the wonderful ultra modern Capital of Brazil to hold its third meeting of 2005. The Brazilian Delegation, headed by Brigadier General Archias did not save any effort to provide our Board with the optimal conditions to perform their duties. The meetings were held in the Meeting room of the Ministry of Defence, what gave a high visibility to that event. During the Opening ceremony, held at the Army Headquarters, the CISM President, BGen Gola reminded the audience that Brazil was the leader nation in CISM at all levels of participation and organization.

As preamble to its working sessions, the CISM President, Secretary General, Treasurer General and Vice-President for America, held a meeting with the military attachés of the Southern American CISM Member Nations. This meeting was a splendid opportunity to explain them the CISM scope and activities, and all participants agreed to work of the reactivation of the inactive countries.

The working sessions were opportunities for our BoD members to achieve important steps in the CISM management. The new 2006 Calendar was approved, the solidarity programs reviewed, a new communication plan developed and, among others, the Board refined its policy regarding the "Sport and Peace" projects.

The CISM BoD could also enjoy the participation of Navy Commander F.Bustos, Representative of UDMA, Union Deportiva Militar Suramericana, the CISM twin organization for South America. Both CISM and UDMA signed an agreement of collaboration to reinforce the CISM position on that continent, and to look forward to a greater collaboration between the two organizations.

Another important point of that meeting was the signature of the final contract for the organization of the 4th Military World Games by the Chief of the Indian Delegation, Rear Admiral Suthan and the CISM President, BGen Gola, during the Closing Ceremony. Also during our stay in Brasilia, we had the pleasant surprise to hear, from the mouth of the Deputy Minister of Defence himself, Mr. Rosière, that Brazil was seriously considering its candidature to the Organization of the 5th edition of the MWG in 2011. We hope to receive good news in the coming weeks.

All our gratitude to the Brazilian Delegation for its huge efforts to bring CISM one step higher!

A rather promising return to CISM roots

About two dozen delegates from CISM and a variety of international organisations including the UN, the IOC, the Council of Europe and UNICEF travelled to the magnificent town of Mantova near Lake Garda, to attend the International Seminar on «Sport and Peace» organised jointly by CISM and the Municipality of Mantova.

Anyone candidly venturing the question «Does sport have a role to play in maintaining peace and preventing conflicts?» would have heard a unanimous, firm and convinced affirmative reply from the audience. Not only did all participants concur that sport can play a role, they all agreed that it must make a major contribution to both the prevention and resolution of all armed conflicts.

50% Soldier, 50% Athlete, 100% Humanist

Most speakers recalled that servicemen engaged in peace restoration and peacekeeping missions will increasingly be called upon to perform humanitarian tasks and can no longer afford to confine themselves to strictly military assignments.

Their new mission carries new responsibilities and, he added, CISM definitely continues to play a pivotal role in coordinating initiatives the promote peace through sport. The presence of Iraqi representatives of NCO is just another evidence of the genuine role of sport in rebuilding a society.

On the recommendation of several speakers, CISM decided to set up a “Sport and Peace” platform whose main role will consist in investigating practical means of promoting sport and CISM as a tool for the edification of peace in war-torn areas. This platform could also be leveraged to strengthen the ties between CISM and the other international organisations that seek to contribute to the achievement of this noble objective.

CISM considers the upcoming challenges as an opportunity to refocus some of its objectives, strengthen its credibility and improve its effectiveness.

Olivier Verhele

International Seminar, Mantova

Un retour aux sources plus que prometteur

Si le titre de ce Séminaire s’apparentait la question de savoir si le sport pouvait jouer un rôle dans le maintien de la paix et dans la prévention des conflits, c’est d’un oui ferme et convaincu que tous les participants y ont répondu. Non seulement, tous s’accordent à dire que le sport peut y jouer un rôle, mais d’ajouter que le sport doit jouer un rôle prépondérant tant dans la prévention que dans la résolution de conflits armés.

Les divers orateurs ont rappelé qu’en est que les soldats engagés dans des missions de réhabilitation ou de maintien de la paix avaient acquis de plus en plus de tâches sur le plan humanitaire et ne pouvaient plus uniquement se cantonner dans une mission strictement militaire.

Le CISM reste certainement l’élément majeur de coordination des actions de promotion de la paix par le biais du sport. La participation du président du Comité National Olympique Iléquin est une autre preuve du rôle prépondérant du sport dans la reconstruction d’une société.

Sur proposition de plusieurs orateurs le CISM a décidé de la création d’une plateforme «Sport et Paix» dont la fonction principale sera d’analyser toutes les possibilités concrètes de promouvoir les sports et le CISM comme outil d’édification de paix dans les régions dévastées par des conflits armés. Cette plateforme servira également à renforcer les liens entre le CISM et les autres organisations internationales qui travaillent à ce même noble objectif. Le CISM voit dans tous ces nouveaux défis l’occasion de recentrer certains de ses objectifs et de gagner en crédibilité ainsi qu’en efficacité.
